A REVIEW OF THE SCIENTIFIC AND CULTURAL CONFERENCE FOR WORLD PEACE ARRANGED BY THE NATIONAL COUNCIL OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES, AND PROFESSIONS AND HELD IN NEW YORK CITY ON MARCH 25, 26, AND 27, 1949

Parading under the imposing title of the Scientific and Cultural Conference for World Peace the gathering at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City on March 25, 26, and 27, 1949, was actually a supermobilization of the inveterate wheelhorses and supporters of the Communist Party and its auxiliary organizations. It was in a sense a glorified pyramid club, pyramiding into one inflated front the names which had time and again been used by the Communists as decoys for the entrapment of innocents.

The Communist-front connections of these sponsors, as reflected by the tabulation in this report, are very extensive. One person has been affiliated with at least 85 Communist-front organizations. Three persons have been affiliated with from 71 to 80 Communist-front organizations; 4 have been affiliated with from 51 to 60 Communist-front organizations; 8 have been affiliated with from 41 to 50; 10 have been affiliated with from 31 to 40; 28 have been affiliated with from 21 to 30; and 234 have been affiliated with from 1 to 10 Communist-front organizations. At least 20 of these sponsors are either avowed members of the Communist Party of the United States of America, or their membership cards or party affiliations have been made part of a sworn public record. In election campaigns, at least 49 have given their open support to Communist Party candidates.

The purpose of the Scientific and Cultural Conference can be briefly summarized as follows:

1. To provide a propagandist forum against the Marshall plan, the North Atlantic Defense Pact, and American foreign policy in general.
2. To promote support for the foreign policy of the Soviet Union.
3. To mobilize American intellectuals in the field of arts, science, and letters behind this program even to the point of civil disobedience against the American Government.
4. To prepare the way for the coming World Peace Congress to be held in Paris on April 20 to 23, 1949, with similar aims in view on a world scale and under similar Communist auspices.
5. To discredit American culture and to extol the virtues of Soviet culture.

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES, AND PROFESSIONS

The meeting was sponsored by a Communist-front organization known as the National Council of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions. The National Council of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions is a descendant of the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions which was repudiated in 1946 by Harold L. Ickes, its chairman, because of its Communist character.

In August 1945 June Hoffman, representing the cultural section of the Communist Party at its New York State convention, declared proudly:

We built the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions, and it is a great political weapon.

At that same meeting Lionel Berman, husband of Louise Bransten, a known contact of Soviet espionage agents, was praised by the cultural commission of the Communist Party for his role in setting up the ICCASP—Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions.

On August 2, 1948, Louis F. Budenz, former managing editor of the Daily Worker, testified before the Senate subcommittee of the Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Department as follows:

The Independent [Citizens] Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions was worked out originally in my office in the Daily Worker. It was worked out by the cultural commission of the Daily Worker, of which Lionel Berman, of the cultural section organizer of the party, was a member, and he was entrusted not only by that meeting but by the political committee, as the result of these discussions with the task of forming the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions.

The following sponsors of the New York conference have been affiliated with the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions, which has been cited as subversive by the California Joint Fact-Finding Committee on Un-American Activities:

Louis Adamic	Paul Draper	Thomas Mann
Gregory Ain	Albert Einstein	John McManus
Samuel L. M. Barlow	Philip Evergood	Linus Pauling
Leonard Bernstein	Henry Pratt Fairchild	John P. Peters
Henry Blankfort	Howard Fast	Walter Rautenstrauch
Kermit Bloomgarden	Jose Ferrer	Paul Robeson
Ernst P. Boas	E. Y. Harburg	Harold Rome
Theodor Brameld	Lillian Hellman	Artur Schnabel
Milan Brand	Ira Hirschmann	Artie Shaw
Henrietta Buckmaster	Langston Hughes	Harlow Shapley
Rufus F. Clement	Crockett Johnson	Herman Shumlin
Aaron Copland	Robert W. Kenny	John Sloan
Norman Corwin	I. M. Kolthoff	Donald Ogden Stewart
Leo Davidoff	Leon Kröll	Dalton Trumbo
Jo Davidson	John Howard Lawson	Max Weber
Olin Downes	Ring Lardner

WORLD CONGRESS OF INTELLECTUALS

This conference was held as a follow-up of a similar gathering hailed by the Communist press and radio, which pompously styled itself the World Congress of Intellectuals. It was held at Wroclaw (Breslau), Poland, August 25 to 28, 1948. One of the delegates to the Wroclaw meeting was Bryn J. Hovde, head of the New School for Social Research. He described his experiences as follows, giving an illuminating picture of its tenor and purposes:

Every speech insulting the United States and glorifying the Soviets was wildly applauded. * * After the first speech by the Soviet novelist, Fadiejew, a speech which for vituperation was never excelled and which set the tone for the Congress. * * * I wound up with a strong statement of democracy as the only basis for peace. No speaker at the Congress got a colder reception. * * * Speaking was like throwing flat stones on an icy lake.

Dr. Julian Huxley, director general of UNESCO, who attended the Wroclaw meeting, summed up his impression of the proceedings as follows:

The Congress from the outset took a political turn; there was no real discussion and the great majority of speeches were either strictly Marxist analyses of current trends, or else polemical attack on American or western policy and culture.

Among the international guests listed on the program of the March 25, 26, and 27 conference was the same A. A. Fadeev (Fadiejew) secretary general of the secretariat of the Union of Soviet Writers.

Among the sponsors of the New York meeting are the following participants in the Wroclaw Congress: Jo Davidson, Harlow Shapley, Albert Kahn, and Howard Fast.

Who is this Alexander Fadeyev, who sounded the keynote of the New York Conference in his attack upon the North Atlantic Pact? He is the general secretary of the Union of Soviet Writers. He owes his elevation to this post in 1946 to his role of official axman for the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, when on August 14 of that year it attacked all representatives of culture from humor to science who could be suspected of any friendliness toward the West.

His fury against American writers, who ply their craft freely and independently beyond the confines of the Soviet dictatorship, furnishes a strange contrast with his servility toward the Communist Party leaders. The Moscow Pravda of August 29, 1948, quotes his speech at Wroclaw in which he referred to Eugene O'Neil, Henry Miller, John Dos Passos, and other American writers as members of the "motley literary crew of reaction" of the warmongers.

He was accepted for this role only after the Moscow Pravda had accused him of heresies and after he had given due evidence of his humility by pledging that he would "attentively and lovingly" rewrite his novel, "Young Guardsman" to make it correspond to the "high demands of the party."

German Fascists needed beasts—

he added.

American monopolists find beasts indispensable for the realization of their plans for world domination. Reactionary writers, scientists, philosophers, and artists are ready to serve their masters. They place on a pedestal schizophrenics and drug addicts, sadists and pimps, provocateurs and monsters, spies and gangsters. These beast-like creatures fill the pages of novels, volumes of poetry, casts of moving pictures.

He compared them to "jackals" who "learn to use the typewriter" and "hyenas" who "master the fountain pen."

Referring to the United States, whose air of freedom he was recently permitted to enjoy, Fadeyev declared:

The imperialists of that country, whose facade by the irony of fate is adorned by the Statue of Liberty, have taken upon themselves in great haste the role of conspirators and organizers of a new war.

РАЦИОНАЛИЗАТОРСКОЕ ПРЕДЛОЖЕНИЕ

Рис. А. КАРЕДСКОГО

Ввиду того, что критики иногда попадают впросак, венчая лаврами недостойных, Крокодил предлагает таким неосторожным критикам привязывать к лавровому венку верёвочку и конец последней не выпускать из рук. Это даст возможность критику в нужный момент дернуть за верёвочку, сорвать венок и тем самым исправить свою ошибку.

A Proposal for Efficiency

Inasmuch as critics sometimes err and crown the undeserving with a Laurel wreath, Crocodile suggests that henceforth they tie a string to the wreath and never let go of it. Then, at a moment's notice, the critics can pull off the wreath and correct their error.

Choosing to ignore Soviet-Communist imperialist aggression in Poland, Rumania, Hungary, Albania, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Lithuania, Latvia, Esthonia, Korea, and China, the ruthless violation of treaties and the vanguard activities of its fifth column in other countries including the United States, and flying in the face of the fact that the United States has appropriated for itself not one foot of foreign soil as a result of World War II, Mr. Fadayeve continued:

After the Second World War, the entire world was divided into two camps: the democratic, antifascist, anti-imperialist camp led by the Soviet Union, and the antidemocratic, reactionary, imperialist camp led by the ruling circles of the United States of America.

This man who was responsible for the purging of countless Soviet writers, now either in prison camps or in their graves, went on to comment on the "cold terror" confronted by the "American intelligentsia," declaring that "a writer who writes anything dissenting from the official policy of the Government of the United States is also threatened with 10 years in prison." He denounced "this rude violence" as a "mad effort to impose fascism on America by legal means."

Among the sponsors of the New York Conference who attended the meeting at Wroclaw were: Saul Carson, writer; Norman Corwin, writer; Jo Davidson, sculptor; Clifford Durr, attorney; William Gropper, artist; Albert E. Kahn, coauthor of The Great Conspiracy; the Secret War Against Soviet Russia; Freda Kirchwey, singer; O. John Rogge, attorney; Donald Ogden Stewart, writer; Colston E. Warne, consultant for the President's Economic Advisory Council, and Ella Winter. The following participants at Wroclaw were not in the publicly announced New York group: George Abbe, writer; Yaroslaw Chyz, journalist; Catherine Corwin, actress; Leta Cromwell, professor; Florence Davidson, painter; G. S. Delatour, professor; Virginia Durr, active in the Wallace movement and the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, a Communist front; Jacques Ferrand; Bryn J. Hovde, historian; Edita Morris, writer; J. V. Morris, writer; E. T. Prothro, psychologist; Colin D. Kopp, clergyman; Nathan D. Sachs, businessman and Wallace supporter; James Sheldon; J. H. Smith, a social worker; Juri Suhl, writer for Communist publications; and Dr. and Mrs. Jack Paradise.

The Moscow New Times thought so well of the remarks made by delegate Albert E. Kahn at Wroclaw that it commented favorably as follows:

Albert E. Kahn, member of the American Progressive Party and a well-known publicist, agreed with those delegates who compared modern American policy to the policy of Hitlerite Germany, which had unleashed the Second World War. The Hitlerites started off in the same way as America's ruling circles are now proceeding.

In a vivid speech, replete with factual material, Albert E. Kahn stressed that power in America had been seized by a small but extremely powerful group of financiers and industrialists.

The Truman doctrine and Marshall plan, he said, were not the brainchild of the American people, but the monstrosity of Washington and Wall Street.

Broadcasting from Moscow on April 4, 1949, Doctor of Philosophy Chernov explained in detail the Soviet Government's attitude toward literature, science, and art in all its full significance. Inveighing against the "cosmopolitan" teachings of "world citizenship," he declared that the Communist Party of the Soviet Union has—revealed the antipatriotic bourgeois cosmopolitan meaning of the subservience to the capitalist West, has shown that admiration for all things foreign leads to national treason, to the betrayal of the interests of the Soviet people and the Socialist fatherland.

This bitter hatred for all western culture and the attempt to divorce writers, scientists, and artists from their own native land and win their allegiance for the Soviet Union is the underlying aim and theme of these scientific and cultural conferences for world peace, of which the New York meeting was a sample.

We must also consider as a part of this Communist world-wide "peace" offensive the statement of Maurice Thorez, leader of the French Communist Party, calling upon the French people to welcome the Red Army on French soil in the event of an invasion and the fact that this treasonable declaration was echoed by the leaders of the Communist Parties of Italy, Great Britain, Norway, Denmark, Mexico, Canada, Finland, Argentina, Australia, Colombia, Austria, Japan, Cuba, and Uruguay. It was openly supported by William Z. Foster and Eugene Dennis, speaking in behalf of the Communist Party of the United States of America. The New York Conference did not take issue with these pronouncements. In fact some Communist Party leaders, like John Gates and Alexander Trachtenberg, participated.

EARLIER COMMUNIST "PEACE" MOVEMENTS

It will be remembered that prior to the launching of the American League Against War and Fascism in this country in 1933, there was a World Congress Against War held in Amsterdam in August 1932, under the chairmanship of Henri Barbusse, the well-known French Communist. By strange coincidence the following delegates to the recent New York Conference were also delegates in Amsterdam: Minna Harkavy, Scott Nearing, Margaret Schlauch, and Bernard J. Stern.

The American League Against War and Fascism, formed as a result of the Amsterdam meeting, was characterized by Attorney General Francis Biddle as an organization—established in the United States in an effort to create public sentiment in behalf of a foreign policy adapted to the interests of the Soviet Union.

Its program adopted in New York City at a United States Congress Against War on September 29–October 1, 1933, sounds strangely similar to the pronouncements of the Scientific and Cultural Conference for World Peace and the Wroclaw Congress of Intellectuals.

The black cloud of imperialist war hangs over the world * * *

Only in the Soviet Union has this basic cause of war been removed * * * therefore the Soviet Union pursues a positive and vigorous peace policy and alone among the governments proposes total disarmament * * *

The Government of the United States in spite of peaceful professions is more aggressively than ever following policies whose only logical result is war.

In line with this outlook the program was implemented with demands for outright treasonable activity which again are a forecast of the present and future trend of the Scientific and Cultural Conference for World Peace and the forthcoming World Peace Congress. The objectives to which the American League Against War and Fascism was pledged were—

- To work toward the stopping of the manufacture and transport of munitions and all other materials essential to the conduct of war, through mass demonstrations, picketing, and strikes * * *
- To support the peace policies of the Soviet Union * * *
- To win the armed forces to the support of this program.

The 31 former supporters of the American League Against War and Fascism who sponsored the New York Scientific and Cultural Conference for World Peace were—

Theodore Brameld	Hayward Keniston	Ad Reinhardt
Edwin Berry Burgum	Corliss Lamont	Wallingford Riegger
Morris Carnovsky	John Howard Lawson	Margaret Schlauch
Aaron Copland	Felix Levy	Frederick L. Schuman
Jerome Davis	Robert Morss Lovett	Herman Shumlin
Dorothy Douglas	Robert Lynd	Johannes Steel
Barrows Dunham	Albert Maltz	Bernard J. Stern
Guy Endore	Wayne McMillen	Harry F. Ward
Henry Pratt Fairchild	Elias Picheny	Colston E. Warne
William Gropper	Anton Refregier	Ella Winter.
Langston Hughes

In the light of Soviet fear of the growing threat of Nazism, the international Communist line changed after the Seventh Congress of the Communist International in the summer of 1935, to one of demanding a united front of the peace-loving nations against the Fascist aggressors. An appropriate front organization was built to carry out this line, calling itself the American League for Peace and Democracy, which was sponsored by the following names to be found supporting the Scientific and Cultural Conference for World Peace:

American League for Peace and Democracy

Cited as subversive by the Attorney General (total 43):

Alice Barrows	Langston Hughes	Walter Rautenstrauch
Benjamin A. Botkin	Leo Hurwitz	Anton Refregier
Millen Brand	Rockwell Kent	Muriel Rukeyser
E. B. Burgum	Harry Lamberton	Margaret Schlauch
Kyle C. Crichton	Oliver Larkin	Guy Emery Shipler
Jerome Davis	Felix A. Levy	Herman Shumlin
Adolf Dehn	Mrs. Alice Liveright	Lee Simonson
Muriel Draper	Allen Lomax	Agnes Smedley
Jane Dudley	Donald G. Lothrop	Johannes Steel
Mordecai Ezekiel	Robert Morss Lovett	Donald Ogden Stewart
Dorothy Canfield Fisher	Louis F. McCabe	Paul Strand
William Gropper	Jack McMichael	Harry F. Ward
Marion Hathaway	Dorothy Parker	Colston E. Warne
Stephen Heym	Helen Philips	Ella Winter
Eugene Holmes

Following the signing of the Stalin-Hitler Pact in August 1939, the American League for Peace and Democracy was liquidated and a new organization was formed, called the American Peace Mobilization, which gained notoriety by picketing the White House in protest against lend-lease, conscription, and the national defense program.

The following sponsors of this organization recently supported the New York Scientific and Cultural Conference:

Lee Cobb	John H. Lathrop	F. Hastings Smyth
John DeBoer	Herman Long	Donald Ogden Stewart
Will Geer	Robert Morss Lovett	Eda Lou Walton
Philip Evergood	Jack McMichael	Henry F. Ward

After VJ-day, when the United States was no longer needed as an ally, the Kremlin dictated an anti-American policy which is operative today, finding its expression in the "cold war" against the United States. In accordance with this approach a new front organization was spawned, which proclaimed itself as the Win-the-Peace Conference (Congress). Sponsors of this movement included the following supporters of the New York cultural and scientific meeting:

Win-the-Peace Conference (Congress)

Cited as subversive by the Attorney General (total 28):

Louis Adamic	Sidonie M. Gruenberg	Jack McMichael
Edward K. Barsky	Uta Hagen	Dorothy Parker

Jo Davidson	Ring Lardner	Johannes Steel
W. E. B. DuBois	Ray Lev	Dr. J. Raymond Walsh
Rev. Joseph F. Fletcher	Thomas Mann	Ella Winter
Clark Foreman

The Win-the-Peace Conference (Congress) was expanded into the movement behind the candidacy of Henry A. Wallace for President, which crystallized into the Progressive Citizens of America and the Progressive Party. Thus, the California Joint Fact-Finding Committee on Un-American Activities, in its 1948 report, states that—the forerunner of the Progressive Party.

The Southern California Committee to Win the Peace became inactive on June 17, 1947. In its final appeal, this branch requested that its units go over as a body into the Progressive Citizens of America. * * *

From its inception this movement had the active approval and support of Moscow and the Communist Party of the United States. Among the sponsors of the New York Cultural Conference were the following Wallace supporters (total 221):

Rev. Charles B. Ackley	Thomas Bell	Henrietta Buckmaster
Louis Milford Adamic	Leonard Bernstein	Richard Burgin
Dr. Thomas Addis	Walter Bernstein	David Burlinuk

WORLD PEACE CONGRESS

The New York Conference of March 25, 26, and 27 was a forerunner of a World Peace Congress to be held in Paris on April 20 to 23, headed by Frederic Joliot-Curie, an avowed French Communist. Similar "peace" conferences have been organized under Communist initiative in various countries throughout the world as part of a campaign against the North Atlantic Defense Pact. Hailing this movement, the publication, For a Lasting Peace, For a People's Democracy, the official organ of the Cominform (formerly the Communist International), in its issue of March 15, 1949, declared:

Men of science, art, and literature and the progressive intelligentsia of all countries are actively joining the struggle for peace and have welcomed the convening of a world congress by the supporters of peace.

A Moscow broadcast in Spanish to Latin America on April 3, 1949, announced a projected "Western Hemisphere Peace Congress" which will coincide with "preparations for the World Congress of Peace," and which is called by the Communist-controlled Latin American Federation of Labor in opposition to the Western Hemisphere Defense Pact and the North Atlantic Pact.

The Bulgarian Congress in Defense of Peace held in Sofia on April 3, 1949, announced its purpose in participating in what it called "a powerful front of peoples who are against war * * * the front of peace and democracy headed by the hope of humanity, the great Soviet Union." Its resolution declared that it welcomed "the initiative for convening of an international congress for the defense of peace," and that it would "send its delegates to this congress" in order "to express its admiration to the Soviet Union, bulwark of peace and democracy in the world, and its leader, the man of genius and the conscience and hope of millions of humble people throughout the world, Generalissimo Stalin," and to "raise firmly its voice against the hysteria of war in the United States."

A similar Congress for Peace and Culture is to be held at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, in mid-April, sponsored by Brazilian Communists and their fellow travelers.

A Moscow broadcast of April 2, 1949, announced that a—people's movement for peace against the warmongers is gaining ground in the new democracies. More public, social, and cultural organizations of Poland, Bulgaria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, and Albania express a strong desire to partake in the World Congress of Partisans of Peace.

Any strong desire contrary to the wishes of the Communist dictators in these states, would, of course, receive the penalty of a firing squad or a concentration camp.

Frederick Joliot-Curie, the French Communist and atomic scientist, who is in charge of arrangements for the Paris Conference, has announced that among the American delegates would be Charles Chaplin, O. John Rogge, Rockwell Kent, Louis Untermeyer, Howard Fast, Johannes Steele, Artie Shaw, and Rabbi J. X. Cohen.

HIGH LIGHTS OF THE SCIENTIFIC AND CULTURAL CONFERENCE

Certain outstanding features of the Waldorf-Astoria Conference of March 25, 26, and 27 are worthy of note in revealing its nature and aims. First and foremost was its Communist character. From the outset Secretary of State Dean Acheson referred to the gathering as "a sounding board for Communist propaganda." The State Department pointed out that "none of the cultural leaders of eastern Europe" who attended "were free to express any view other than that dictated by the political authorities in Moscow," and expressed no doubt "as to the manner in which the Communists will attempt to use the manipulate" the Conference.

It is significant that one of the unpublicized participants was none other than Alexander Trachtenberg, head of the International Publishers, Communist publishing house, the Fadayev of the Communist Party of the United States, in other words its cultural commissar. He was the reporter on Communist literature at the Communist Party conventions of 1936 and 1937, brain truster of such cultural fronts as the Workers Cultural Federation, the Jefferson School of Social Science, the Book Union, the Workers School, and the League of American Writers, who at one time was in charge of the mass distribution of Stalin's statement on the Soviet Constitution. Accompanying him were John Gates, member of the national board of the Communist Party, United States of America, now under grand-jury indictment, and Claudia Jones, member of the national committee of the Communist Party, United States of America, now being held for deportation.

Referring to this Conference, Henry Kassyanowicz, broadcasting from Warsaw on March 30, 1949, declared:

Notably it testified to the fact that the Communists are the vanguard of the world peace movement.

Elsewhere we have stated in detail the number of outright members of the Communist Party who participated as well as those who have supported the Communist Party at one time or another.

So clearly was it understood that Communists were in the saddle that Prof. William Olaf Stapledon, of Great Britain, a delegate, frankly admitted that he "believes in working with Communists" on certain occasions.

In keeping with the general tone of the Conference, a resolution was adopted defending the Communist leaders now on trial for teaching and advocating the overthrow of our Government by force and violence and condemning the proceedings as "heresy trials of political philosophies and attempts to limit and destroy the right of association." Present on the dais at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel were the three professors dismissed from the University of Washington after their Communist Party membership had been established.

CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE

A member of the Communist Party struck the main chord of the Conference in his outright advocacy of civil disobedience. Chosen for this role was Richard Boyer, who spoke openly as a member of the Communist Party. Just as the party speaks in the name of Jefferson, Paine, and Lincoln to disguise its character as a Soviet fifth column, Boyer enunciated his Kremlin-inspired message in the name of such outstanding American literary figures as Ralph Waldo Emerson and Henry D. Thoreau. It would be well to give serious consideration to the insidious intent behind his carefully chosen words. "The writer," he declared, "cannot safely surrender his conscience * * * to Truman." He did not comment on those like Fadayev and Shostakovich who had openly surrendered their souls to Joseph Stalin and the Communist Party.

Defending these men and himself against the charge that they are merely "regimented automatons bereft of free will," he insisted that "Communist loyalty and Communist discipline is based on individual conscience and individual understanding." In the first place, Fadayev and Shostakovich, who chose to capitulate to the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union rather than go to a concentration camp or a firing squad, certainly had scant freedom of choice. As for those like Boyer in the free air of the United States who voluntarily choose to place themselves within the Communist straitjacket, who choose to commit mental hari-kari, it would seem to us more a mark of degradation rather than any occasion for personal pride.

Those who have thoughtlessly lent their names to the so-called Scientific and Cultural Conference for World Peace, should weigh carefully the motive behind his remark that "the very heart of American thought was that no act or policy of the Government is binding on the individual unless it meets the requirements of his conscience," and that "it is the duty of Americans to defy an American Government intent on imperialist war." The conscience which Boyer prefers as a guide is, of course, the type which justified the Stalin-Hitler Pact, the purge trials, slave-labor camps, and Soviet lust for conquest. And then this docile vassal of Stalin had the effrontery to demand that "We should be men first and subjects afterwards."

In a similar vein, Ladislav Stoll, dean of the Academy of Political and Social Science in Communist-dominated Prague, Czechoslovakia, bluntly declared that "it is simply not possible not to take sides in the struggle between the old, dying world of capitalism and the new socialist world;" adding that "we must unite for the destruction of the old order and the bringing on of the new."

DEBASEMENT OF CULTURE

What could be more debasing than the spectacle of Shostakovich, a talented young composer, ousted from his chair at the Moscow Conservatory of Music, at the behest of men in the Soviet politburo who do not know the difference between a G clef and a hammer and sickle, bowing to their decree to produce music to "which workers can beat time and hum as they try to accelerate production?" What could be more degrading to such an artist than his humble avowal at the Scientific and Cultural Conference that "I know the [Communist] Party is right"?

Bewailing the charge that he had lost "contact with the people," he bowed abjectly and publicly before the "well-known decision of the Central Committee of the Communist Party concerning music," which by some curious process of Communist chicanery, reflected "the demands of the people." It was not made clear whether this decision represented also the demands of 15,000,000 unhappy inmates of Soviet slave labor camps.

By their presence at the conference, their sponsorship and/or their failure to express their disapproval, the following musical figures in the United States gave their tacit confirmation of this fantastic doctrine: Zlatko Balokovic, Leonard Bernstein, Marc Blitzstein, Aaron Copland, Olin Downes, Morton Gould, Ray Lev, Alan Lomax, Aubrey Pankey, Wallingford Riegger, Paul Robeson, and Artur Schnabel.

"For the first time in history," Shostakovich announced, "the state took upon itself responsibility for the level and development of the musical culture of the people."

In answer to this totalitarian philosophy of dragooning culture, Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, declared amid a good deal of hissing and booing, that—democracy must mean intellectual freedom, that it must protect the individual against the right of the state to draw political and cultural blueprints for its painters and writers and composers, or to castigate them, or to enter into those matters of the mind in which the individual is sovereign.

In an open letter to the Conference signed by Prof. George S. Counts, of Teachers' College, Columbia University, and Sidney Hook, well-known philosopher, they pointed out the plight of culture under Soviet system represented by Fadayev and his associates. We quote the letter in part:

Over the last three decades, the Soviet dictatorship has mercilessly imprisoned, exiled, or executed distinguished men of letters in that country. These were not just ordinary individuals of mediocre attainment. They were men of stature renowned throughout the civilized world to those who know literature and poetry.

Not one of these men is to be found anywhere in the Soviet Union. They have disappeared without a trace. Some we know are dead. Some are perhaps dragging out their last days in a Siberian prison camp.

Addressing themselves to Dr. Harlow Shapley, the Conference chairman, the writers asked:

when the delegates from the Soviet Union appear at your Conference, to make inquiry of them as to what has happened to the purged artists, writers, and critics of the Soviet Union. What has happened to Kornilov, Kyrilov, Boris Pasternak, Babel, Ivan Katayev, Orlov and Pilnyak?

There was no answer to this inquiry.

ANTI-AMERICAN, PRO-SOVIET TONE

Throughout the sessions the underlying ethme was pro-Soviet and anti-American. Clifford Odets, author of a number of pro-Communist propaganda plays, assailed what he called:

one of the greatest frauds ever perpetrated against the American people; the fraud that the Soviet Union is making a war against the United States.

He had only to tune in his radio to Moscow on any day of the week, to hear a sample of the type of vilification and slander directed against the United States by the Soviet Government in its ideological war against this country for purposes that are obviously hostile and warlike.

While Sergei A. Gerasimov, president of the Soviet Academy of Art, and chief purger of Soviet films, declaimed on the lofty ideals of the Soviet "conception of life," of its "happy creativeness," of its "manifestation of good will toward the friendship of nations," Clifford Odets, son of a wealthy Philadelphia mattress manufacturer, who has accepted munificent royalties from Hollywood and Broadway, declared passionately:

I cannot blame the Soviet Union because an apocalyptic beast is running loose in our world today and its name is MONEY, MONEY, MONEY. As an American, in the tradition of all American artists of the past, the moral values of my world are in question, not Russia's.

At the same New York session at which A. A. Fadayev eulogized the Soviet Union and its desire "for peace and friendship among peoples," Paul M. Sweezy, writer on economics for Communist publications, fumed that—the real threat to peace comes from the utter and complete inability of the rulers of the United States to devise a nonwarlike program for dealing with the overwhelming problems that are pressing in on them from all sides.

Simultaneously he denounced the Marshall plan as devised to "block a real revolution in the economic institutions of western Europe." Meanwhile Colston E. Warne, who has defended the Communist Party in the past, claimed that our basic national pattern is fast becoming that of a war economy. I. F. Stone, left-wing columnist who has defended the Communist Party and its leaders repeatedly, announced that he came to the Conference because he believed that "the machinery of American Government is set for war." Previously he had written that every Soviet effort at peace had been rejected by the United States.

These gentlemen chose to ignore the stubborn facts of current history which have convinced even such an ardent advocate of Soviet-American friendship as Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, that—

Russia, while professing a desire for peace, has actually shown by its actions that it intended to control as many nations as possible by imposing on them Communist ideas and in some cases, Communist economy, as well as the same type of police state which at present governs Russia itself.

Whether through sheer ignorance or willfulness, they have arbitrarily overlooked Russia's responsibility for the present tension by her numerous vetoes at UN meetings, by her refusal to participate in international economic, social, and cultural conferences, by her imposition of an iron curtain around her own people, by her refusal to exchange cultural information and students, and by her recently initiated campaign of extreme nationalism reminiscent of the regime of Adolf Hitler.

SCIENTISTS

It is by no means accidental that Richard Boyer's appeal for civil disobedience was directed to an audience which included the following atomic scientists: Harlow Shapley, of Harvard University; William A. Higginbotham, of the Brookhaven National Laboratory, Upton, Long Island; William Orr Roberts, High Altitude Observatory, Colorado; Philip Morrison, of Cornell University; Victor Weiskopf, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Oswald Veblen and Albert Einstein, of Princeton. If the Communists could succeed, by playing upon the notorious political naiveté of physical scientists, in inciting scientists to a "strike" against their own Government, or sabotage, it would be a real achievement for the Soviet fatherland. They would like nothing better than a repetition in the United States of the cases of the Canadian atomic scientists, Raymond Boyer and Allan Nunn May, who divulged atomic secrets to the Soviet Military Intelligence. Such is the main purpose of this international movement, which is headed by Frederick Joliot-Curie French Communist and atomic scientist, who has attacked the United States for keeping the atomic bomb secret, a tactic he called "dangerous." Echoing the Soviet position, he has also demanded the United States halt its production of atomic bombs.

The ease with which ideological confusion, such as promoted by the doctrines of Richard Boyer and Frederick Joliot-Curie, may pass over into outright treason, is graphically demonstrated by the case of Raymond Boyer, wealthy Canadian chemist, sentenced to 2 years in prison on February 1, 1948, for his share in revealing the secret of RDX, a deadly World War II explosive, to Fred Rose, leading Canadian Communist and a former member of Parliament. Rose was an operative for the Soviet Military Intelligence. We quote from Professor Boyer's testimony before the Canadian Royal Commission:

Question. You were handing over to somebody, who was obviously an emissary of the Russians, information which your oath of secrecy forbade you to give?

Answer. That is correct.

Question. Would you like to tell the Commission what moved you to do that, why you did it? * * *

Answer. * * * I felt throughout the work that it was unfortunate that the Russians, that there was not closer scientific liaison in connection with such information between the Russian war effort and ours * * *

Question. You realized, Dr. Boyer, that what you were doing was contrary to the oath you had taken?

Answer. Yes.

The Canadian Royal Commission added the following comment regarding Dr. Boyer's attitude:

Professor Boyer had not apparently inquired about the operations in practice of the various official organizations engaged in attempting to organize exchanges of military and other information with the Soviet Union, nor about the degree of reciprocity or relative balance developed in such official exchanges. * * * We see however no reason to doubt the sincerity of his motives as stated by himself. This sincerity was played on successfully by an unscrupulous and more sophisticated agent.

Inconceivable as it may seem, these scientists who are allowing themselves to become the pawns of trained conspirators versed in the art of subversion, are wittingly or unwittingly giving their support to a cause which stands for the negation and destruction of true science and what it stands for. Dr. Ernest P. Boas, of the Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons, who for some unexplained reason sponsored the conference, admitted nevertheless that in the Soviet Union—

Science has become the servant of the state to such an extent that the only true science is that approved by the leaders of the state.

Under such circumstances, he declared, pure science cannot flourish.

Describing Soviet terrorism in the field of science, Dr. H. S. Muller, Nobel prize winner in genetics, and professor of zoology at Indiana University, said:

About 7 months ago the Central Executive Committee of the Soviet Union officially repudiated the entire science of genetics and approved in its stead a group of superstitions that hark back to ancient times.

He described how some of the Russian scientists under Communist pressure had "confessed" their "guilt." Others were banished. In 1940, N. I. Vavilov, famous geneticist and former head of the Lenin Academy of Agricultural Science, was arrested. In 1942 he died in Siberia and his most important papers were destroyed.

MOSCOW APPROVAL

At all stages Moscow has been outspoken in its approval of the Scientific and Cultural Conference for World Peace. The fact that the following representatives of Soviet culture had been permitted to attend the conference is one indication:

- Alexander A. Fadeev, secretary general of the secretariat of the Union of Soviet Writers.
- Sergei A. Gerasimov, writer, motion-picture director, producer; president, Soviet Academy of Art.
- Alexander I. Oparin, acting secretary, Biological Sciences Section, Academy of Sciences of the U. S. S. R.
- Piotr A. Pavlenko, writer, Stalin prize winner.
- D. D. Shostakovich, composer.
- I. D. Rujansky, interpreter.
- Mikhail E. Chiaurely, film director and producer.

The fact that the following representatives of Communist-controlled Czechoslovakia were designated, is another indication:

- Ferdinand Heroik, dean, at Masaryk University.
- Jan Boor, member, Slovak Cultural Organization.
- Ladislav Stoll, Rector, Academy of Political and Social Science in Prague.
- Jiri Hronek, secretary general, International Union of Journalists.

Similarly the sending of the following from the Soviet puppet state of Poland is a mark of Moscow approval:

- Stanislaw Ossowski, professor of sociology, Warsaw University.
- Pawel Hoffman, journalist.
- Leon Kruczowski, novelist and playwright.

The Moscow press and radio was eloquent in its approval of the Scientific and Cultural Congress for World Peace, inflating its significance for its own propagandistic purposes.

The Literary Gazette, appearing in Moscow in the latter part of March 1949, carried an article by Boris Lavrenev, the playwright, called the participants in the conference the "real leaders of America." He described the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel gathering as meeting—in the living gloomy jungles of Wall Street where the sinister plans of a new world war are being nurtured.

He predicted that the Congress would—lay the foundation for the creation of an active and effective front for peace and struggle against the groups of frenzied cannibals who dream of throwing the planet into the nightmare inferno of general war and extracting superprofits from the rivers of blood.

He told his Moscow readers that the "dungeons of the anti-American committee" are filling up with opponents of the North Atlantic Pact.

On April 1, 1949, Ilya Ehrenburg, Soviet publicist and novelist, hailed the "Congress of the American Intellectuals in Defense of Peace" as the voice of "truly progressive, noble America." Yet 1 week later his two early novels were castigated in the magazine, October, official organ of the Soviet Writers Union, on the ground that his characters were not motivated by Communist conscience. In other words the most stalwart guardians of Soviet cultural purity are not immune from unexpected blows of the party's literary ax.

On April 2, 1949, Soviet commentator Vladimirov announced that—

At this Congress the voice of progressive intelligentsia made itself heard against the ruling circles of the United States—adding that—

The Congress is a serious warning to the provokers and instigators of a new war—they will not be supported by the masses.

But Comrade Vladimirov made it plain that this movement would not confine itself merely to speeches and the adoption of resolutions.

The masses—

he declared—

do not confine themselves to the moral support of the promoters of peace; they wage a daily and active fight against the instigators of war.

By way of example he cited:

The statement by Sharkey, leader of the Australian Communist Party, that the Australian workers * * * fully support the Soviet Union in case an imperialist war being launched against it, caused approval among the workers of Australia.

More specifically he pointed out that—

A wave of strikes broke over the entire country in protest against those who persecute the upholders of peace * * * against those who help the instigators of war. At the same time a strike occurred in the opposite part of the world in the Belgian town of Antwerp, where the dockers ceased work in protest against the North Atlantic Pact.

COMMUNIST AFFILIATIONS OF SPONSORS

A tabulation of the numerous Communist-front affiliations of the sponsors of the Scientific and Cultural Conference for World Peace shows the following interesting figures:

One, Rockwell Kent, has been affiliated with at least 85 Communist-front organizations.

Three, Langston Hughes, Robert Morss Lovett, and Donald Ogden Stewart, have been affiliated with from 71 to 80 Communist-front organizations.

Four, Paul Robeson, Mary Van Kleeck, James Waterman Wise, and Harry F. Ward, have been affiliated with from 51 to 60 Communist-front organizations.

Eight have been affiliated with from 41 to 50 Communist-front organizations. These include—

Jerome Davis	Corliss Lamont	Walter Rautenstrauch
William Gropper	John Howard Lawson	Margaret Schlauch
Dashiell Hammett	Carey McWilliams

Ten have been affiliated with from 31 to 40 Communist-front organization, and include—

Louis Adamic	Henry Pratt Fairchild	Clifford Odets
Edwin Berry Burgum	Lillian Hellman	Herman Shumlin
Jerome Davis	Albert Maltz	Bernard J. Stern
Muriel Draper

Twenty-eight have been affiliated with from 21 to 30 Communist-front organizations, and include—

Thomas Addis	Robert S. Lynd	Guy Emery Shipler
Marc Blitzstein	Louis F. McCabe	Raphael Soyfer
Millen Brand	Jack R. McMichael	Alfred K. Stern
Aaron Copland	Clyde R. Miller	Paul Strand
Kyle Crichton	Henry A. Murray	Dirk J. Struik
Pearl M. Hart	Dorothy Parker	Eda Lou Walton
John A. Kingsbury	Bertha C. Reynolds	Colston E. Warne
Alfred Kreyborg	Frederick L. Shuman	Max Weber
Joshua Kunitz	Edwin Seaver	Ella Winter
Kenneth Leslie

Forty-nine have been affiliated with from 11 to 20 Communist-front organizations, and include:

Zlatko Balokovic	Philip Evergood	F. O. Matthiessen
S. L. M. Barlow	Lion Feuchtwanger	Wayne McMillen
Edward K. Barsky	Dorothy Canfield Fisher	Gardner Murphy
Herbert J. Biberman	Minna Harkavy	Scott Nearing
Algernon D. Black	Marion Hathway	John P. Peters
Ernest P. Boas	Leo Huberman	Arthur Upham Pope
Dorothy Brewster	Leo T. Hurwitz	Anton Refregier
Henrietta Buckmaster	Matthew Josephson	Wallingford Riegger
Morris Carnovsky	Robert Josephy	Harold Rome
Adolf Dehn	Robert W. Kenny	Muriel Rukeyser
Albert Deutsch	Oliver Larkin	Howard Selsam
Earl B. Dickerson	John Howland Lathrop	Harlow Shapley
Martha Dodd	Emil Lengyel	Johannes Steel
Dorothy W. Douglas	Donald G. Lothrop	I. F. Stone
W. E. B. DuBois	Harry L. Lurie	Oswald Veblen
Albert Einstein	Thomas Mann	J. Raymond Walsh
Guy Endore

Two hundred and seventy have been affiliated with from 1 to 10 Communist-front organizations, and include—

Berenice Abbott	Herbert Aptheker	Leonard Bernstein
Charles B. Ackley	James Aronson	Victor Bernstein
Charles C. Adams	Edith Atwater	Walter Bernstein
Stella Adler	Alice P. Barrows	Michael Blankfort
Cecilia Ager	Mordecai Bauman	E. M. Bluestone
Gregory Ain	Howard Bay	Henry Blumberg
George Anthiel	Thomas Bell	Aaron Bohrod
Robenia Anthony	Aline Bernstein	B. A. Botkin

Richard O. Boyer	Arthur Gaeth	Ray Lev
Kay Boyle	Will Geer	Julian Levi
Theodore Brameld	Barbara Giles	Joseph H. Levy
Marlon Brando	Josiah W. Gitt	Jose Limon
J. Edward Bromberg	Vincent Glinsky	Jacob Little

The sponsors include at least 131 individuals who have publicly defended or supported the Communist Party, United States of America. A minimum of 225 of these sponsors have at one time or another defended or supported individual Communists. In connection with organizations, statements, or activities in support of the Soviet Union, we find not less than 193 names of these as the following tabulation will show. Furthermore, fully 137 of these persons have in one way or another supported Communist publications.

COMMUNIST PARTY, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Of the over 500 sponsors of the Scientific and Cultural Conference, at least 22 are either avowed members of the Communist Party, United States of America, or their membership cards or party affiliations have been made part of a sworn public record:

Herbert Biberman	Barbara Giles	A. B. Magil
Richard O. Boyer	William Gropper	Albert Maltz
Edwin Berry Burgum	Langston Hughes	Carey McWilliams
J. Edward Bromberg	Albert E. Kahn	Paul Robeson
Allan Chase	Alfred Kreymborg	Howard Selsam
Lester Cole	Ring Lardner, Jr.	Samuel Sillen
Howard Fast	John Howard Lawson	Dalton Trumbo
Will Geer

In the light of the conspiratorial nature of the Communist Party, the current practice of concealing party membership in most cases, and the numerous front affiliations of some of these sponsors, it is reasonable to assume that many more are secret party members.

Breathes there the man, with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
This is my own, my native land!
Whose heart hath ne'er within him burn'd
As home his footsteps he hath turn'd,
From wandering on a foreign strand?
If such there breathe, go, mark him well;
For him no minstrel raptures swell;
High though his titles, proud his name,
Boundless his wealth as wish can claim,—
Despite those titles, power, and pelf,
The wretch, concentred all in self,
Living, shall forfeit fair renown,
And, doubly dying, shall go down
To the vile dust, from whence he sprung,
Unwept, unhonour'd, and unsung.
